

How to book

To book an appointment at one of the Weekend Plus practices, please phone reception here at The New Surgery. The receptionist will then advise you of the times and dates that Weekend Plus practices have available and book you an appointment. When you phone The New Surgery, the receptionist will ask you if you consent to record sharing. By consenting to record sharing, this will enable the Weekend Plus practice at which you have booked an appointment to access your records so the GP can provide you with appropriate care. Without record sharing, the GP will not be able to provide appropriate care for you.

You will receive a text message (if we have a mobile number for you) confirming the time, date, the practice name and postcode.

To cancel your appointment, please phone The New Surgery during opening hours.

The Weekend Plus Service offers bookable GP appointments. These should be booked for general routine appointments and not for medical emergencies. As it is a new service, there will be some services that will not be provided.

The following services will not be provided by the Weekend Plus practices:

- Patients who are identified within a potentially life threatening medical condition which is not suitable for primary care management must be immediately and safely transferred to the relevant urgent and emergency care service
- GP appointments relating to test results received/communication of diagnosis
- Mental health-related appointments
- Condition reviews (e.g. diabetes, COPD, care plans etc.)
- Medication reviews
- Prescription of controlled drugs
